EBSCO products

- EBSCOhost
 - EBSCOhost is an advanced online reference system that offers immediate access to a variety of full-text databases. The approachable, intuitive user interface of EBSCOhost reduces the need for additional training of staff or students. The software is powerful, flexible and easy to use. EBSCOhost offers customizable basic and advanced searching supported by Boolean logic, enhanced subject indexing, and journal searching to assist users in performing more thorough investigations of their research topics. With links from the full record display to related articles by subject, journal issue, or author, researchers can further explore their topics. Finally, EBSCOhost allows researchers to print, e-mail, or download multiple articles.
